

Fall Reading Challenge

Grab a blanket. Find a suspiciously large mug. Pretend you have nowhere else to be.

☐ A book set in a small town

Book: _____

☐ A cozy mystery

Book: _____

☐ A book with autumn colors on the cover

Book: _____

☐ A comforting reread

Book: _____

☐ A book set at a school or university

Book: _____

☐ A book with a little magic in it

Book: _____

☐ A book that has been collecting dust on your TBR

Book: _____

☐ A mystery that isn't going to ruin your sleep

Book: _____

☐ A book featuring a bookstore or library

Book: _____

☐ A book set somewhere cold

Book: _____

☐ A book with a house on the cover

Book: _____

☐ A book by an author you've never read before

Book: _____

☐ A book under 300 pages (we're easing into this)

Book: _____

☐ A book you bought entirely because it looked cozy

Book: _____

☐ A book that makes you want to cancel your plans and keep reading

Book: _____

☐ A story involving a family secret

Book: _____

☐ A book set in the woods

Book: _____

☐ A historical fiction novel

Book: _____

☐ A book involving food, baking, or a café

Book: _____

☐ A book with a title that sounds vaguely ominous

Book: _____

☐ A book someone keeps telling you to read

Book: _____

☐ A book with an animal on the cover

Book: _____

☐ A book set in October or November

Book: _____

☐ A book that makes you laugh

Book: _____

☐ A book with an old house, manor, or cottage

Book: _____

☐ A book you can finish in a weekend (allegedly)

Book: _____

☐ A book perfect for a rainy day

Book: _____

☐ A book outside your usual genre

Book: _____

☐ A book that feels like fall, for reasons you cannot explain

Book: _____

☐ The best book you read this fall

Book: _____

Fall Stats

Books read: _____ / 30

Favorite book: _____

Biggest surprise: _____

Did I spend more time reading than doing what I was supposed to do?

☐ Yes

☐ No

☐ Mind your business